Data: Importance of Ensuring Accuracy

If you are currently one of our clients or have listened to one of our free webinars, then you know how much we stress the importance of data integrity and accuracy. Accurate data can give the proper insight to your Health Center(s) clinical, financial, and operational performance. Having high integrity data allows you to make data driven decisions with confidence, plan improvement activities, measure progress and monitor long term sustainability. Data is much more than just numbers. Your data tells an important story about your Health Center(s).

Planning for 2020?

Here at CURIS we are planning and prepping for next year! We are currently establishing contracts and speaking engagements for the 2020 calendar year. Our focus will continue to be to assist clients (i.e. PCAs, HCCNS, and Health Centers) with training and professional development, PCMH recognition, renewal, and/or transformation, Quality Improvement, Risk Management, LEAN/Six Sigma, Behavioral Health Integration, SUD/MAT Program Development and expansion, Care Coordination/Care Management, Team Based Care, and more.

We often hear, "I didn't know you did that too!" Our consultants are unique in that they have decades of widespread knowledge based on first hand internal Health Center experience, as well as external experience with IPAs, ACOs, and hospital systems. If you don't see a service or training listed on our website, just ask. Remember, we can assist you in best leveraging your grant money and how to use it to fund consulting services and reinvest into your programs. Set up a time to talk to us to learn more.
