

Happy August!

August is always a great month as we transition from summer into conference season, National Health Center Week, Strategic Planning, PCMH renewal planning, and more. To kick off August is National Health Center

Week! During this week the goal is to bring awareness to the nation about the mission of Community Health Centers and all they do for their communities.

Another important item this month is PCMH Annual Reporting Requirement changes for 2023. There are a lot of changes in the requirements from 2022 to 2023. Knowing and understanding all of the changes can be challenging. We are always here to assist and guide you in learning these requirements. We have PCMH Content Certified Experts who work with several clients a year in becoming PCMH certified and applying for annual recognition with a 100% pass rate. Contact us if you just have a question or would like our assistance in your PCMH transformation journey or annual reporting process.

Last, is our company update! CURIS Consulting has been busy entering new states and offering new services. For example, our newest member James Sheehy has been partnering with Health Centers to assist in improving their Call Centers. James has already excelled in dramatically reducing wait times and employee turn over rates. CURIS Connect has been in the process of onboarding Care Coordinators for our Connect clients. To learn more details about our CURIS Connect services read the flyer below.

We hope everyone has been enjoying their summer and are looking forward to hearing from you!
